

End Interview Questions:

Describe the goal(s) for the composition, your contribution, how you worked together in the creation, and in what ways it met (or not) your intentions?

After nearly having completed the course, if you were asked to write a course description of what the students will learn, what would you say?

What was the most important things you learned during this class?

Describe what you learned that you feel will, in some way, enhance what you do in your discipline.

What other things did get out of the class, beyond what you can take with you into your discipline?

Tell me about any challenges or difficulties you experienced in the class during the semester.

What was it like learning about and working with the technology?

Discuss what is was like creating a musical composition.

If there is any part of this course that didn't meet your expectation, what would that be?